Relying on the faithful performance of these voluntary assurances by His Majesty's government the United States takes it for granted that the approach of American merchantmen to neutral ports situated under the order in council will not be interfered with when it is known they do not carry goods which are contraband of war or goods destined to, or proceeding from, ports within the belligerent territory affected."

"There is no doubt that our government will insist upon this position."

BRYAN IN LETTER TO GERMAN AMERICANS DEFENDS WILSON

that it is the important thing, the exact date of the note is not material. My reason for desiring to have the matter pressed to Great Britain at once was not that Germany had any right to ask it, but because I was anxious to make it as easy as possible for the German to accept of employment in the United States and cease to employ submarines against merchantmen. There is no reason why German-Americans should doubt the president's intentions in this matter. I am sure that every one will on reflection recognize that our duty to prevent loss of life is more urgent than our duty to prevent interference with trade. Loss of life can be compensated for with money, but no settlement that the United States and Germany may reach can call back to life those who went down with the Lusitania—and war would be the most expensive of all settlements because it would enormously add to the number of the dead.

"Fourth: I hope that Germany will acquiesce in the demands made and I hope that she will acquiesce in them without condition. She can trust the United States to deal justly with her in the consideration of any change that she may propose in the taking of national rules that govern the taking of prizes. The more generously such acts in this matter the greater will be the glory which she will derive from it. She has raised a question which is now receiving serious consideration, namely: Whether the introduction of the submarine necessitates any change in the rules governing the capture of prizes. The position seemingly taken by Germany, that she is entitled to drown non-combatants because they ride with contraband, is an untenable position; the most that she could insist upon is that in view of the addition of this new weapon of warfare new rules should be adopted—separating passengers from objectionable cargo. If the use of the submarine justifies such a change in the law of blockade such as permit the cordon to be withdrawn far enough from the shore to avoid the danger of submarine attack, may it not be found possible to secure an international agreement by which the passengers will be excluded from the use of the submarine? I believe that the carrying of contraband, or at least ships carrying contraband, is a thing from which the world is turning away. The carrying of contraband is a thing which is being abandoned entirely, just as submarines are being abandoned. I would like to see an abandonment of the use of the submarine, and I believe that for the carrying of explosives, but I am not sanguine enough to believe that any effective instrument of warfare will be abandoned as long as war continues. The very arguments which the advocates of peace advance against the submarine, the aeroplane and the Zeppelin are advanced in favor of them by those who conduct war. The more a weapon is the more it is in demand and it is not an unjust thing to see a new instrument of destruction denounced as inhuman by those against whom it is employed, only to be employed later by those who only a little while before denounced it. "The above suggestions are respectfully submitted to those of German birth or descent and they are submitted in the same spirit to naturalized citizens from other countries."

Selling on Sunday. Art. 199 (Selling Goods on Sunday).—"Any merchant, grocer or dealer in wares and merchandise, or trader in any business whatsoever, or the proprietor of any place of public amusement or the agent or employee of any such person who shall sell, barter or permit his place of business or public amusement to be open for the purpose of traffic or public amusement on Sunday shall be fined not less than $20 nor more than $50. The term place of amusement shall be construed to mean circuses, theaters, variety theatres and such other amusements as are exhibitors of moving pictures, low dives and places of like character, with or without fees for admission."

Art. 220 (Exceptions from Operation of Preceding Article).—"The preceding article shall not apply to markets or dealers in provisions made by them before 9 a. m. nor to the sale of burials or shrouding material, newspapers, ice, ice cream, milk, nor to the sending of telegraph or telephone messages at any hour of the day, nor to the keepers of drug stores, hotels, boarding houses, restaurants, livery stables, bath houses or ice dealers, nor to telegraph or telephone offices."

Sheriff S. S. Fleming said last night that he would be pleased to talk things over with the delegation from the Central Labor council. He said, however, that he did not intend to try to enforce laws that had never been enforced. "The law as to the picture shows was passed since I have come into office," he said. "If anybody makes complaints as to any of the laws, of course, I will follow them up. I'm not going to try to start something that has never been done on laws that were in effect long before I went into office and to which body here I paid any attention."

He informed last night that a committee from the Central Labor council proposed to call on him to-day, County Attorney John B. McNamara said that he would be glad to receive them and to give them a respectful hearing. Mr. McNamara said, of course, that he could not tell what he would say until he had heard what the labor people wanted.

Waco Power Plant Does Double Duty

The Waco plant of the Texas Power and Light company has been taxed to its fullest capacity since the power has been cut off in Fort Worth on account of high water and flood in that territory. The plant here has been furnishing power all the way to Denison, including Fort Worth and smaller cities. The Waco plant is one of the biggest and best equipped in the south and during the present time has demonstrated it in every way.

The capacity is rated at 6,000 kilowatts, but since the present tax on its output has been so great at times it was forced to stop a while yesterday afternoon on account of the water in the Brazos being so full of sand and that it ran into the condenser and clogged it so that water could not flow through. The power was off for about an hour in the afternoon, allowing time to wash some of the sand out, but beside that, the plant has been holding up wonderfully, never having an accident or stoppage even under the great pressure through which it went. From 11:45 last night until about 2 o'clock this morning, Waco was supplied with power from Fort Worth, while the condensers were being cleaned out.

MISS MABEL ROSS CITY SALESLADY

For Big Birmingham Concern Tells What She Hears About Vitalitas.

"In justice to Vitalitas and my friends in Birmingham and surrounding vicinity, I am going to relate some of my experiences while acting as saleslady for the Avery Drug company," said Miss Mabel Ross, whose home is 1026 First Ave. North. "It was an everyday occurrence for some one I knew to come in and say to me, 'Gee, but don't you think I am looking a lot better than when you last saw me?' Well, you know I have been taking Vitalitas and think it is the best remedy yet. This I heard several times a day from various ones. In several instances I personally knew people who took Vitalitas for indigestion, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble and liver complaints with astonishing results. One of my acquaintances told me she put a value on each bottle she bought me of $500, knowing that she had been benefited to that extent. If space would permit I could relate things I have heard in praise of Vitalitas from suffering people in every walk of life. All who come in contact with people who are using, or have used, Vitalitas are amazed at the really astonishing reports they hear regarding it. It is daily bringing new health and strength to vast numbers of sufferers. It is, without doubt, Nature's greatest tonic and corrective and it should be in every home."

GOOD TEETH ESSENTIAL TO GOOD HEALTH.

According to the United States Public Health Service there will be a falling off in the sale of store teeth in the future, and plates and toothless gums will be seen less frequently than formerly. This is due to the epoch making discovery of the cause and method of treating of what is known to the scientist as pyorrhea dentalis and alveolitis and to the layman as Rigg's disease. This is a suppurative inflammation of the roots of the teeth and causes an inflammation which produces loosening of the teeth. At one time or another practically everybody has Rigg's disease. It is caused by a minute single cell animal called the endamoeba buccalis. This malevolent parasite does its work in combination with the pus-producing bacteria or germs. The skillful teamwork between these two destroys the delicate membrane which surrounds the roots of the teeth and causes them to fall out.

The necessity of good teeth in order to have good health has been recognized a long time, but the scientists of our country have only recently worked out the relationship between decay of the teeth and Rigg's disease on the one hand, and rheumatism, serious heart disease and high blood pressure on the other. So firmly have these facts been proven that the modern up-to-date physician begins the treatment of such diseases by an inquiry into the condition of the teeth and their sockets. If these are found to be diseased, the condition is cured before the treatment goes further. The discovery of the cause of Rigg's disease is, therefore, of the very greatest importance.

Just as soon as the cause of Rigg's disease was found out, the search for the cure began in earnest. It had been previously discovered that the use of ipecac would cure the diseases which are caused by infection of the intestine with endamoebae. From this it was deduced that a similar treatment would cause the destruction of endamoebae in the mouth. This was found to be the case, and emetin, the form of the drug used, is now administered by physicians for the cure and prevention of the disease. It sometimes takes a considerable time to get rid of all the malignant germs in this way but the results which have been obtained have been remarkably good. The treatment is both local and general.

In the matter of preventing mouth disease, it is important that the mouth be cleaned several times a day, and that a dentist be visited frequently to remove tartar and the yellowish matter which accumulates along the inner edges of the teeth and between the teeth. This is particularly important in the case of children, because it has been found that many a child is apparently dull who is in reality suffering from a chronic poisoning produced by a mouth full of decaying teeth.

The number of sufferers from Rigg's disease in the United States is very large and the United States Public Health Service is daily receiving inquiries as to the method of curing and preventing the disease.

According to a Denver paper there is a police judge in that city who has a sense of humor. Two clairvoyants, old practitioners in that city, were haled into police court and fined $25 each for failure to pay the city license for the practice of their profession. The magistrate asked them if they claimed to be able to tell the happenings of the past, present and future, and when they assured him of their ability in this direction, he said: "Then you ought to have foreseen this $150 license on clairvoyants and made preparation to pay it. You have until next Saturday to produce the license fee."

President Wilson is not the only cool-headed person in the country. Mrs. H. C. Larmon of Fort Worth, 84 years old, led her milch cow to the roof of her high house when the Trinity river overflow struck her house, rescued her 85 little chickens and tried to get the family horse to join the roof party, too, but the horse hesitated and was lost.

THE LATEST NOTE TO GERMANY.

Firm and positive as is the president's latest note to Germany, it is couched in such friendly terms that the country is led to wonder wherein Mr. Bryan found anything that he could not in good conscience sign, especially in view of the fact that it is not near so vigorous as was the former protest and there is nothing in it approaching the strong sentence in the first note of warning to Germany on the establishment of the submarine zone, that she "would be held to strict accountability" for damage to American property and the loss of American lives. The whole tone of the note is such as to indicate that President Wilson is just as anxious for peace as Mr. Bryan and the whole altruistic spirit of the message is as lofty as any of the ideals that are entertained by the retiring secretary of state.

The positive declaration of this government, based upon official investigation by regularly accredited representatives of the government, that the Lusitania was not armed, and was given clearance from New York as an unarmed passenger ship, removed the occasion for the investigation proposed by Germany and paves the way for the firm re-statement of the United States' demand that Germany give a guarantee that in the future the rights of American citizens on the high seas shall be duly respected.

There is nothing in the note to justify its consideration as an ultimatum, as many have been led to believe, from the press dispatches, would be the case. President Wilson calmly informs the German government that it is "on the principle of humanity as well as upon the law founded upon this principle that the United States must stand" and while no inkling of what this nation will do in case Germany shows no disposition to meet its demands is given, those who know the firmness and positiveness of the president are convinced that he will not be slow to uphold the dignity of this government and the rights of the people.

In proffering the services of this government to bring about a joint agreement between Great Britain and Germany for the fuller observance of the rules of international law and justice President Wilson reassures Germany of our friendship for her people and our neutrality in the present conflict and we cannot but believe that the latest note will be much more cordially received by Berlin than any that has preceded it. The note is not as stringent in its demands as the people had been led to expect, yet it states the position of the government with sufficient explicitness and firmness as to convince Germany that the United States, convinced of the righteousness of its position at the outset, has receded from nothing that was maintained at that time.

Mr. Bryan, in taking exception to the latest note, has convicted himself of inconsistency, for there is nothing in the note that indicates war, and neither in spirit or language is it as strong as its predecessors which Mr. Bryan signed and thus became committed to. It appears that Mr. Bryan was more peeved because the note was drafted by the white house rather than by the department of state, and no one can longer doubt but that there were other and weightier differences between the president and his premier than the tone of the note that has just been despatched to Germany. Basing our opinions upon the letters exchanged between Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan we were led to believe that Mr. Bryan, in leaving the cabinet, would still afford to the president all the loyalty and support which is especially due that office in times of national stress like the present. In rushing into immediate print with an effort to justify himself rather than ask support for the president, he has made a mistake, yet we think the mistake will hurt Mr. Bryan more than it will the president. The exceedingly friendly tone of the president's latest note deprives Mr. Bryan's beautiful and theoretical dissertation on the evils of war of all their force, for it removes all doubt that the president wants war unless it be absolutely necessary to maintain the rights of humanity, which, translated into more practical English, means the rights of American citizens.

DOING YOUR PART?

When Chief Justice Paxson devised the laconic warning, "Stop, Look and Listen," it was believed that the legal limit in railroad crossing precautions had been reached, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch. But that was before the days of automobiles and high speed on the highways. The increasing number of fatalities on railroad crossings has spurred the Long Island railroad to further effort, and great warning signs that he who speeds may read are being placed at every crossing on the road. These read:

"This sign may save your life today. All the precautions in the world will not save the lives of those who drive automobiles recklessly over railroad crossings. When approaching a crossing please STOP, look and listen. We are doing our part. Won't you do yours?"

The size and novelty of the new signs will attract attention for a time. But how long will it be until they, too, become familiar, are passed as unheeding as the old? The problem to be solved is to get the public, whether in automobiles crossing railroads or on foot crossing the streets, to do their part habitually, instinctively. The warning cannot be sounded too frequently. All the signs, precautions and traffic regulations in the world will not save your life if you carelessly imperil it.

Waco furnished North and Northeast Texas with electric power and light Thursday, Thursday night and Friday, supplanting the big power plant at Fort Worth for the time being, the floods having put that plant out of commission temporarily.

WEEDS ON THE VACANT LOT.

Speaking of the danger to the public health that lurks in the weeds that mark the vacant lots in cities the Dallas News says:

"Mosquitoes, flies, snakes—insects and varmints of many kinds are harbored by the weed jungle of the vacant lot. Also in this jungle there are apt to be concealed heaps of refuse and garbage which rot and make the poisons which it is the function of flies and mosquitoes to distribute. One does not have to plead the unsightliness of the weed jungle to find a reason for making war on it. To be sure, that in itself would be ample provocation; but we have in considerations of health and comfort a provocation which warrants the sternest measures. Those who permit their lots to become weed jungles ought to be fined with a heaviness which recognizes their assault on a whole neighborhood. Those who do this and are beyond the reach of fines must be dealt with in another way. Mr. Lang suggests that the city be empowered to cut the weeds on vacant lots of absentee owners, and assess the cost against the property. We can conceive of no reason why this should not be done, and many think it should be. There can be no justice in requiring the resident owner to do this if the non-resident owner is permitted to default. At all events, the nuisance and dangers of the weed jungle are great enough to justify the employment of drastic measures. All else that may be done to improve the sanitary conditions will fall far short of the intended effort so long as the weed jungles are tolerated."

What is true of weeds in Dallas is true of them in Waco. To our newly constituted board of health we suggest a survey of the city for vacant lots that need to be cleaned up, as well as weedy premises that are occupied. If the task of cleaning up the lots is too large for the sanitary force, then the vacant lots should be cleaned up by special labor and the expense charged up to the owners of the lots. And the owners of occupied premises should be compelled to clean them up for their own protection and the safety of the whole people.

BLACKSHEAR VINDICATED.

News dispatches indicate that Prof. Blackshear, principal of the Prairie View Industrial School for negroes at Huntsville, has been re-elected by the board of directors of A. and M. College, the board having found the charges against him to be greatly exaggerated and to have been filed not so much for the sake of saving the school as in the hope of providing a berth for another man.

We are glad Blackshear has been re-elected and we hope the board, the governor and others will see to it that he shall not be further embarrassed by the slanders of political self-seekers who want his position. Blackshear has made blunders at times and for some of these he has merited and received the criticism of members of the board, but the facts have developed the information that he was led into some of those blunders by the designs of white men who hoped to obtain political advantage thereby. Blackshear has no business meddling in partisan politics in this state, but the duty of administering reproof devolves upon the board of directors who elect him and not upon the governor. Inasmuch as his election has been made by the board after Governor Ferguson has named four new members of that body we presume the governor will not interfere to carry out his threat to remove him, for there is no question but that Blackshear is the best qualified man in Texas for the job, and despite his occasional blunders he has wrought a big work for the people of his race in this state, and what helps his race helps the whole people.

Governor Ferguson has shown the right disposition in investigating the needs of the educational institutions and allowing the appropriations for them to stand. We hope he will also allow the boards of control of those institutions a free hand in mapping out and executing constructive policies.

We never fancied the role of a hen-pecked husband nor that of any kind of fowl, but it would not be bad to be a Red Rooster in Houston next Sunday when Otto Sens, High Cockalorum II, Red Roosters of Houston, Yard No. 1, entertains the whole poultry yard down at his hunting lodge on the gulf coast. According to the Houston papers there will be something more substantial than chicken feed on the menu.

One of Mr. Bryan's last official acts was to promote Hampson Gary of Tyler to be assistant solicitor of the state department. Who knows but that Mr. Wilson, having found such good material in Texas for postmaster general, attorney general, Indian commissioner, consuls to various other places, and other positions, may not turn to this state for a successor to Mr. Bryan?

A special gold dollar that will be coined in honor of the Panama-Pacific exposition will show the face of a laborer, the dispatches tell us. That is a nice compliment to the laborer whose face is stamped upon it, but the average working man had much rather have his hands than his face upon a gold dollar.

Mr. Taft should feel complimented upon the estimate Texas has of him. No less skillful politicians than J. Sheb Williams of Paris, Ben E. Cabell of Dallas and Charles H. Mills of Corsicana have recommended him for secretary of state in the Wilson cabinet.

Harry Legg Will Meet Alden Swift in the Finals at Memphis

Memphis, June 11.—Harry G. Legg of the Minikahda Golf club, Minneapolis, will meet Alden B. Swift of the St. Joseph, Mo., Country club tomorrow in the finals for the championship of the Trans-Mississippi Golf association. Legg won his way into the association match by defeating Bryan Heard, Houston, 4 up and 2 to play, in today's semi-finals. Swift won his semi-final match with Ashton Evans Jr. of Memphis 6 to 4.

In the championship consolation match John D. Cady of the Rock Island, Ill., Arsenal Golf club and W. D. Mallory of Memphis will meet in the final round.

Uncle Bill Johnson Dies at Hillsboro

Hillsboro, Tex., June 11.—W. B. ("Uncle Bill") Johnson, one of the early settlers of Hill county, and an ex-Confederate veteran, passed to his reward this morning at 2:30 o'clock at the ripe old age of 79 years 3 months and 10 days.

While attending the national Confederate reunion at Memphis, Tenn., he fell from an embankment, breaking his hip and knee and dislocating his ankle. He had never fully recovered from the effects of this accident, which, together with the feebleness of old age, brought on an attack of illness which confined him to his bed for a month preceding his death.

He is survived by his wife and seven children, Mrs. Bertha Shoemaker of Hillsboro, Mrs. W. L. Townsend, Durant, Okla., Mrs. P. M. Mason, Sumner, N. C.; W. D. Johnson, Dallas; W. M. Johnson, Hillsboro, and J. A. and E. R. Johnson of Waco.

The funeral services were held this afternoon, conducted by Rev. M. T. Andrews, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which "Uncle Bill" had been a member.

WHAT THE CITY COMMISSION DID

Passed under suspension of rules the ordinance regulating plumbing. Indefinitely postponed decision upon the proposal of the Texas No-Fuel company to install a garbage disposal plant.

Extended invitation to the Southwestern Waterworks convention now in session in Galveston to hold the 1916 meeting in Waco.

Authorized secretary to receive bids for repairing roof of city hall.

Purchased a two-speed street sweeper and decided to convert one of the street flushers into a sprinkler.

A garbage plant for the disposal of all the refuse gathered by the city sanitary force will not be installed in the city within the near future, as the result of the decision of the city commission yesterday to go no further into the proposition of the Texas No-Fuel company until personal investigation is made into results obtained from a similar plant in operation at Austin. E. A. Orchard, special representative of the Texas No-Fuel company, has been in the city for two weeks in conference with the commissioners and gathering data as to the amount of garbage disposed of by the garbage furnace used now.

Graduated charges for connections instead of the former flat rate of $1 collected by the city are provided in the new plumbing ordinance introduced by Commissioner Richards yesterday and passed under suspension of rules. Under the new ordinance a fee of 25c will be charged for each connection. Commissioner Richards said this was changed to equalize fees required from large buildings and residences. Under the former ordinance large buildings in the city, such as the Amicable and the Riggins hotel, paid only $1 as fees for inspection of connections.

Mayor Riggins was excused from the commission meeting yesterday afternoon on account of a slight illness from which he has been suffering for several days. Commissioner Cockcroft, as mayor pro tem., presided at the meeting.

An invitation to the Southwestern Waterworks convention to hold its next meeting in Waco was extended by the commission upon motion of Commissioner Richards. The convention is now in session at Galveston, request for the invitation coming from Superintendent S. J. Quay of the local waterworks.

Following the proposal of Commissioner Cockcroft last week to buy another street sweeper and convert one of the flushers into a sprinkler, the commission yesterday purchased from the Austin-Weston company of Dallas one of their new two-speed machines. Mr. Cockcroft stated that the use of flushers on streets paved with brick injured the pavement by breaking the filling between the bricks, leaving the edges unprotected to be crumbled off by the heavy traffic.

Bids for repairing the roof of the city hall will be received at the secretary's office, being authorized by vote of the commission yesterday. Water leaking through the roof has damaged the interior of the blue room so extensively that it will have to be repaired.

A petition of residents in the neighborhood for an ear light at Seventeenth and Clay streets was referred to Commissioner Richards.

A complaint that persons have closed the city street at Second and Lelia was referred to the city engineer, who will plat the street and report at the next meeting.

AMERICAN INSURANCE UNION

Officers and members of Waco Chapter No. 488 A. I. U. are requested to attend the funeral of our deceased brother, W. J. James, from his residence, 1126 S. 13th street, at 10 a. m. this (Saturday) morning. W. E. EDGAR, Cashier.

A plea for co-operation among the citizens of the city toward better sanitary conditions was contained in the report of Public Health Commissioner W. H. Cockcroft, read at the city commission meeting yesterday afternoon. Following is Commissioner Cockcroft's report:

"Our department earnestly requests the citizens to more fully co-operate with us in the handling of trash, by placing receptacles in a convenient place that the drivers may be able to handle easily and quickly. One other matter we want to impress on the citizens is that we cannot handle decayed, vegetable matter, nor slops of any character, for it is necessary for the men to get in their unlawful for unload, and it is also unlawful to load such matter on our dumping grounds.

"We truly hope the good people of our city will fully co-operate with us in this matter and it will be only a short time until we can handle this department to a much better advantage than we are now doing. You will not only help us to make our department more successful, but you will help the entire citizenship very materially.

"I also want to call the attention of the police department to the necessity of co-operating with us in the matter of stopping automobiles against the curbing or closer than eighteen inches. Our gutter men frequently have to move same in order to clean the gutter, thereby hindering their work and decreasing their efficiency. This is a matter of pure carelessness, we believe, and if all owners of cars will obey the law they and every other taxpayer will get much better service for their money. We are trying in every way to increase the efficiency of our department, but without the co-operation of all citizens we will be greatly hindered.

"It has been the custom for trash wagon and gutter cart drivers to gather and save all junk that is salable, and frequently, we learn, $1 to $3 or $4 a week is made extra wages. We very respectfully submit the following: That all junk or salable material collected shall be deposited at the city corral and at the proceeds a month be disposed of and the proceeds be given to the United Charities. Let it be little or much, it will help those who need it more than our men who have steady work and good wages. We feel sure our men will heartily join in this and co-operate with us in this matter and we also believe the good people of our city will gather and save for this purpose.

"Another matter we wish to call the attention of the storekeeper to is the sweeping of trash, and frequently refuse, in the gutters just after they have been cleaned. They can sweep the refuse into a box and place it where sweepers can get it the next morning. If all will kindly do this they will see a great difference in the cleanliness of their front streets.

"Respectfully, W. H. COCKCROFT, Public Health Commissioner."

HIPPODROME.

"Her Shattered Idol."

"Her Shattered Idol," Mutual Masterpiece, showing at the Hippodrome today, with Charles Chaplin in "A Night Out," may have been written by George Ade if one judged by its theme and subtleties. It is the first Mutual Masterpiece comedy, and the subtitle before each scene is written in slang, new and modern slang that is refreshingly entertaining to followers of photoplay comedies and baseball.

Mae Marsh and Robert Harron in this picture come to the fore as stars, who have firmly established themselves as the most interesting couple appearing on the screen. Spottiswoode Aiken is another Griffith actor who has a big part in the new picture. The play was staged by John B. O'Brien, whose ability has been proven by past performances. The story was written by Ella Woods.

Mae Carter, the wealthy ward of Col. Aiken, has engaged herself to her guardian's nephew, Robert, and after a lot of pretty teasing, she allows the young man to slip an engagement ring on her finger. Then, unluckily for her, she meets the village blacksmith, whose wide shoulders and thick chest and whose strength is apparent by every move, and she awakens the knight of her dreams and the most interesting and picturesque comedy.

After an exciting lapse of time, the poor Robert is engaged to Mae and a wedding ceremony is all but finished when the blacksmith rushes in.

Becoming more uneasy over conditions in the City of Mexico, Mrs. Z. F. The reply has not come, but the old home friends of Mrs. Riveroll are hoping that she will consent to spend some time here.

If the published notice holds good, Waco women who visit the California club on Wednesday evening saw all the pretty Waco girls in natty boating costume, plying the oars with grace, while the men lolled among the boat cushions, and the music from the boats floated over the ripples of water. Is not this a vision sure to come? With the deeper river, a new phase of society life is coming. Waco girls must learn to row. The exercise is graceful as well as healthful.

QUEEN.

Mary Pickford.

Mary Pickford, the idolized star of the Famous Players film company, adds another striking characterization to her notable repertoire of screen successes in Frances Hodgson Burnett's great drama of optimism, "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," the world-famous story of a young girl's unflinching faith and triumphant ultimate reward.

In this celebrated play that gladdened the hearts of so many and the screen version of which will cheer the hearts of thousands more, Mary Pickford portrays the weird and wonderful character of Glad, the beautiful and daring girl of the London slums, whose undying optimism and heroic courage undying optimism and deadly peril are unable to quench. The delicacy of Miss Pickford's portrayal and the threads of the drama will make an unforgettable impression on the spectator. How the ignorant little slum girl, by her beautiful faith in the mysterious power she but vaguely comprehends, is enabled to save her lover's life from the gallows, keep a great financier from suicide, bringing him a new hope and meaning of life, and awaken a reprobate nephew to a better manhood are vividly told in this sublime drama of human suffering and hope that has brought to many despairing souls a new inspiration to bear the trials of dawn in the expectancy of tomorrow's day.

Flow of Oil Struck in Small Quantities at South Bosque

Oil in small quantities flowing with the water, was struck yesterday morning in the well being drilled by the McLennan County Oil and Gas company near South Bosque. The depth was 1,320 feet. Drilling was stopped as soon as the oil was observed, in order to allow the promoters to make preparations for a gusher which they expect to bring in when the drill pierces the cap rock, on which it rests. The oil found in the well is of different quality from that of the shallow wells in that section, some of it

At the regular meeting of the City Federation of Wesley Adult Bible Classes held last night at Herring Avenue Methodist church after a short program was carried out among which there was a very interesting talk by Rev. J. R. Morris, pastor of the Fifth Street church on his recent visit to the exposition at San Francisco. B. Class No. 12, from Elm street, made application for membership. Miss Jackson, chairman of the library committee, reported that she was unable to secure space at the public library at this time on account of crowded conditions, but said the library was very much interested and assured her as soon as the necessary room was secured would be glad to accommodate the classes. A committee appointed chairman from Fifth street with four assistants from every other church and one each from every other Methodist church in the city to prepare the program and details of the anniversary celebration to be held at
